day and night where there is no inspiration for promotion. The club must be their argument, the pistol their defender, and thanklessness their reward not only for their protection to the public but for the sacrifice made of social ostracism of selves and families. Be often with your police officers, socially, and efficiency and fidelity will distinguish them as much as they do any citizen they protect with their lives by night and by day.

"Police headquarters and the fire department are the rendezvous of many who must use these for their only club rooms since the saloons closed. I beg you to make these places attractive, comfortable, lamelike. The reaction will elevate the spirit of civic pride of policemen, firemen and their friends and visitors. I call it economical to supply your firemen, your gallant volunteers in deed, with every comfort and convenience that may add to their sense of gratitude and patriotism to the citizens, to whose property, peace and existence these fire fighters joyfully devote their lives amid dangers to health and life itself while we are asleep in our comfortable homes.

"Specifically, I would make the fire department quarters so absolutely homelike and comfortable that no other place in town would be so attractive to our oft-forgotten protectors, who are well able to judge whether we appreciate their great part in the preservation of all that is dear to us—our churches, homes, schools, stores, banks, etc. Our fire chief, Ben Daugherty, could spend the money for his buddies in a way that would make them give their lives to save your property from destruction. Will it pay? Rather, ask yourselves, "Would we take their places, risk our clothes, our bodies, our chance of promotion, our lives?" It is the cheapest investment you have—fire equipment and a home for the firefighters. God bless them, Ben Daugherty, wife, babies and all!

"The editors of Madison county, thank God fervently, have never flickered in their stand for law and order and temperance. Only the ministers, as a class, have ever equalled the papers in this regard.

"Nothing I have said above is unrelated to law enforcement. Better personal conduct, service on juries, extreme verdicts, electing best men, watching their work, condemning and commending, socializing policemen and their loved ones, equipping firemen with necessities and socialized luxuries, do these things and every town in Madison county will be too proud of you to stray off to other cities to buy goods or property. Other counties will follow your lead, criminals will fade away, tragedies will become ancient history, hypocritical boozers will sober up, move away or die like rotten apples, which are no good anyhow.

"Finally, if the men of Richmond and Madison county do not do their whole duty, I beg the women with votes now, to sweep the county and city clean, and educate their sons in the way they should go, and bind their daughters to a pledge that "the lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine."

"I have nothing here to attract an except having friends, a devoted daughter in Lexington, and a lone grave in your heart cemetery. And yet my devotion to the good government of Richmond is so great, that I am not afraid to say I should be grieved if the survivors of our battles of 1906-11 have fallen from grace by touching, tasting, handling the unclean glass. Oh, friends, remember—

"At the punch bowl drink, let the drinker think.
What they say in Japan
First the man takes a drink,
Then the drink takes a drink.
Then the drink takes a man."

SEEKS RECEIVER FOR BIG UNION

(The Associated Press)

Toledo, Feb. 16.—The Bacon Brothers Company in federal court here today applied for a receivership for the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way and Railway Shop Laborers. A temporary order was issued restraining the officers of the organization from withdrawing money from a Cleveland bank and the defendants are cited to appear February 21 and show cause why the receiver should not be appointed. Today's action is an outgrowth of damage suit for several hundred thousand dollars filed against the union by Bacon Brothers for breach of contract.

A Correction

Our good coal friend, Hord Gordon, in his advertisement in Wednesday's paper quoted some unusually low prices on block and nut coal. In setting the printer even went fifty cents lower than his price, which caused quite a run on the coal market at his yard. The price quoted was $5.50 for the Red Ash block, when it should have been $6.00, which is an unusual low price for this splendid coal. The corrected price appears in his ad today.

Evolution Bill Defeat Predicted

Frankfort, Feb. 16.—Opponents of the so-called evolution bill at the Senate today predicted for the first time, the defeat of the measure. The debate on the bill is expected to end today.

NORMAL SCHOOL IS BREAKING RECORDS

Attendance Exceeds All Previous Figures and a Great Work Is Being Done

On Tuesday of last week the third term of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School began. The attendance is far heavier than it has ever been before in the history of the institution. The actual enrollment at the Normal School at this time is well over the 850 mark. Usually at this time of the year, in years gone by, the attendance has been around 600. Quite a number of students went home because they could not secure accommodations of the kind they wanted. There are over 140 different classes running in the Normal School proper and the classes are ranging from 30 to 80 students each. Every school room on the campus is taxed to its limit. If the administration could have assumed people of accommodations in the way of rooms the attendance would have been well over the 1,000 mark at this time.

The majority of these students are taking their meals at the dining halls on the campus. The school is now running three large kitchens and dining rooms and giving meals to about 750 people daily. The administration appreciates very much the way the Richmond people have come to its assistance in the matter of rooms. In order to get the women students who room out in town, to and from their rooms, the school is running its bus in the mornings and evenings. Something like 150 women are rooming out in town. It may be of interest to know that there are about 475 women in school and nearly 400 men. There would be no trouble in running the school well over the 1,000 mark if suitable rooms could be found close enough to the campus for students to go back and forth to their meals.

Quite a number of former graduates of the school are writing in now to find out when the Normal School will go on the college basis, permission to do which was given by a law recently passed by the two House of Legislature and signed by the Governor. There is no question that a large class could begin next fall if the Board of Regents should see fit to inaugurate it.

The teachers of the Normal School and students, and the teachers of the City Schools are having the opportunity this week of hearing Dr. Chas. A. McMurry, of Peabody College, who is probably the foremost methodologist of this country. He is the head of the Department of Education at Peabody College. He has written a large number of books which are used all over the United States and in foreign countries. Dr. McMurry is lecturing in the forenoon at the chapel hour and at 11 o'clock he is demonstrating teaching classes of students; at 4:10 he lectures to the teachers of the Normal School and of the City Schools. It is the policy of the Normal School to bring, once every term, some man or woman among the best in the educational world, for the purpose of giving the faculty and students a chance of hearing the best along educational lines.

The two new teachers of the Normal School are making good in great shape. Miss Zellhoefer, as assistant in the English Department, is setting some very high standards, while Miss DeVries, at the head of the Department of Home Economics, is making an excellent impression upon the faculty and the student body. The school was very fortunate in securing these highly educated and splendidly trained young women. Miss Zellhoefer is a graduate of a normal school in Illinois and of the University of Illinois. Miss DeVries is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Each has done quite a bit of post-graduate work since graduating.

Last Monday afternoon and evening there was a meeting of representatives of the schools, which either grant certificates in their own right or are permitted to recommend their students to the State Department of Education for certification, for the purpose of considering standards. The Normal School at Berea was represented by Dean McAllister, Col. Guillian and Prof. Burr;

Rubber Stamp Wrong, But Bingham Still Wins

Frankfort, Feb. 16.—The rubber stamp "is an innovation" in politics "which destroys the secrecy of the ballot," the court of appeals said. The decision in the election contest case Mat Bingham against David Johnson, appealed from the circuit court, "Everyone who took the stamp into a booth gave notice of how he intended to vote," the court said. Bingham, an independent candidate, entered too late to have his name printed on the ballot, insisted for the convenience of his supporters, who otherwise would have to write his name, a rubber stamp. Votes so stamped, the court held, are valid. Bingham, however, wins because he alleged that he received votes, not so marked and Johnson, the Republican candidate, admitted that Bingham received the most votes but failed specifically to allege or prove that he received any at all himself.

Pay Debts, Stop Tobacco

At Evangelist's Command
Warfield, Feb. 16.—A marked decrease in tobacco sales and payment of old debts are resulting from the "Unknown Tongue" revival conducted by Akron, O. woman whose disciples are forbidden to drink or smoke and urged to settle old accounts. Meetings often continue until 2 a. m. and great throngs have braved the opposition voiced by members of other churches.
